

Gore Mutual Insurance Company Shares Path to Operational Efficiency in HP Exstream Webinar

PALO ALTO, Calif., October 27, 2009 – HP announced an exclusive webinar with Gore Mutual Insurance Company which provides in-depth insight into how the company is leveraging HP Exstream, the market-leading enterprise document automation software. The company shares how HP Exstream is enabling the insurer to enhance compliance, drive efficiencies and improve customer responsiveness. The webinar, hosted by HP, originally aired on Tuesday, October 13, 2009, is now available for replay.

“Gore Mutual is dedicated to providing our customers with the most comprehensive insurance offering in the industry coupled with the best customer experience,” said Sean Christie, VP Strategic Projects for Gore Mutual. “By partnering with HP for this webinar, we have the opportunity to share how HP Exstream software is helping us address some of the most common communication challenges faced by insurers today, while giving us a solution for driving our business to the next level.”

During the audio webcast, Gore Mutual will also explore how its phased approach eliminated many of the common pitfalls associated with implementing a new software solution and what they learned along the way.
