

HP iPAQ Navigates the Course for Easy and Entertaining Travels

PALO ALTO, Calif., Sept. 28, 2006 – HP today introduced a new iPAQ series that packs GPS navigation, digital entertainment and mobile connectivity⁽¹⁾ into an easy to use design.

Thin, stylish and weighing less than six ounces, the HP iPAQ rx5000 series Travel Companion can move effortlessly with travelers from the car dashboard to pocket or purse when traveling across town or the world.

The HP iPAQ rx5000 Travel Companion arrives pre-installed with GPS navigation software and maps, providing easy turn-by-turn navigation right out of the box. No Secure Digital (SD) memory card or activation is required. Additional travel tools include access to current times, weather, currency, size and measurement conversions, and even a helpful packing organizer.

Unlike many GPS devices, the slim and compact HP iPAQ rx5000 goes beyond offering simple navigation tools. Staying entertained during downtime or transit is easy with its rich multimedia capabilities – enjoy music/MP3s, videos and gaming. Even when on the move, television fans can watch recorded TV and catch up with their favorite shows. Vacation photos need not go stale – travelers can view, share photos or get creative and produce a digital album with slideshows and recorded voice notes.

In addition to its entertainment features, the HP iPAQ rx5000 runs on the latest Windows® Mobile 5.0 operating system and offers both Wi-Fi and Bluetooth™ technology, providing Internet connectivity⁽¹⁾ and convenient email and organizer/contacts/calendaring functions.

The versatile HP iPAQ rx5000 series allows customers to accurately and easily navigate virtually anywhere, stay connected to both their business and personal life as well as provide a variety of digital entertainment at their fingertips.⁽¹⁾ Key features include:

- Integrated antenna and latest SiRFstarIII GPS receiver help ensure a strong connection without the need for bulky flip-up or external antennas.
- Accurate navigation software and maps are pre-installed and ready to use.
 - In North America and Europe, TomTom NAVIGATOR 6 navigation software and the latest maps from Tele Atlas are included.
 - North America customers can choose the rx5900 model with complete U.S. and Canada maps included.
