

Valerie Logan

Leader, Worldwide Consulting and Integration, Information Management, HP Services

Hewlett-Packard Company

Valerie Logan is the worldwide leader for Consulting and Integration within the Information Management unit of HP Services. In this role, she is committed to establishing HP as the premier provider of information management and business intelligence professional services globally. Logan joined HP in early 2007 as part of the acquisition of Knightsbridge Solutions.

Logan has more than 16 years of experience in the areas of integrated business intelligence, business performance management, process management, large-scale program management, knowledge management, change management and advanced analytics.

Her experience includes: a year with Knightsbridge focused on development and facilitation of the organization's growth strategy; more than four years with the IBM/PwC Global BI Consulting Practice leading the internal programs that supported more than 2,000 BI professionals globally; five years in consulting at Price Waterhouse leading large-scale business intelligence programs for financial services clients; and five years within the telecommunications industry enabling business process transformation through integrated measurement and analysis.

She holds a bachelor's degree in mathematics from the State University of New York College at Buffalo, and a master's degree in applied mathematics, with a concentration in operations research, from New Mexico State University. She is based in Rochester, N.Y.
