

Expanded HP Managed Print Services

Overview

Accelerate business productivity with an expanded HP Managed Print Services portfolio that delivers new document workflow solutions and consulting services to help reduce total business costs and increase productivity. With the new services and solutions, enterprise customers can increase control of their office print related activities by optimizing and managing their entire office imaging and printing environment.

HP Print Center Transformation

Dramatically improve on-site production performance and free up internal resources with HP Print Center Transformation services. The new services re-engineer production and customer service operations on-site for around the clock, high-quality production output. With the workflow re-engineering services, operator console and reporting tools, enterprises can reduce costs and achieve a highly effective and integrated output environment.

HP Integrated Print Management

Ideal for organizations that want to gain control of large, heterogeneous, office print environments, HP Integrated Print Management services increase visibility to all print activities, help build an effective print infrastructure and improve productivity. HP Integrated Print Management Services increase visibility and control over print-related processes and collect, analyze and monitor print-related data, giving customers a current, fact-based account of the office print environment.

HP Onsite Document Consultant

The HP Onsite Document Consultant service provides the customer an on-site experienced HP document and print management professional that acts as the single point resource for all of the customer's document or print-related needs. Responsible for managing the entire print environment according to customer business objectives, the consultant works at the customer's site to effectively prepare documents for production and direct output, ensuring it is produced and delivered according to specifications.

HP Universal Print Driver Consulting

The HP Universal Print Driver Consulting Service provides on-site technical consulting and strategic guidance around implementing the full benefits of the HP Universal Print Driver within a customer's business. Customers that adopt the HP Universal Print Driver benefit from reduced time spent certifying, deploying and managing drivers, as well as a reduction in the number of help desk calls related to driver issues.
