

Executive Biography

Hatem Mostafa

Senior Vice President, Inkjet Systems, Imaging and Printing Group

Hewlett-Packard Company

Hatem Mostafa is senior vice president of the Inkjet Systems global business unit within the Imaging and Printing Group (IPG) at HP. He and his team are responsible for transforming IPG's inkjet printing business to meet the demanding digital and printing needs of HP's consumer, small and medium business and enterprise customers. He oversees the worldwide strategy, development and profitability of HP's industry-leading Deskjets, Officejets, Officejet Pros, all-in-ones, scanners and high-end Edgeline multi-function printers. His business focuses on the expansion into emerging regions, vertical industries and digital web-based printing.

Prior to this role, Mostafa served as vice president and general manager of the Multifunction Systems and Infrastructure organization within IPG's Enterprise Imaging and Printing global business unit. Over the course of his 26-year career at HP, he has held a number of key management positions including vice president and general manager for the Shared Printing Organization, and general manager for the Mid-Range LaserJet division. Mostafa was the general manager for the Department Color LaserJet division that enabled HP's entry into the high-end color market. He was also the research and development manager for the Office Products division that launched the flatbed all-in-one category.

Mostafa holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Minnesota, and a master's degree from Stanford University. He and his family are based in San Diego, Calif.
