

Executive Biography

John Thompson

Vice President and General Manager, Workstations Global Business Unit, Personal Systems Group

Hewlett-Packard Company

John Thompson is the vice president and general manager of the Workstation Global Business Unit in the Personal Systems Group at HP. Based in Fort Collins, Colo., he is responsible for HP's workstations business in all market segments worldwide. His responsibilities include workstation strategy and roadmap, product development, complete lifecycle management, global supply chain, total customer experience, profit and loss.

Previously, Thompson held several vice president and general manager positions in HP's Americas region, including the HP Americas Solution Partners organization where he led the channel partner sales organization and the Commercial Solutions organization.

Prior to joining HP, Thompson held several senior roles within Compaq, including vice president of the North America region's marketing and product group and vice president and general manager for Compaq's Enterprise business in Europe based in Germany.

Prior to Compaq, Thompson held several executive management positions within marketing, sales, product and operations at HP and at Eastman Kodak Company.

Thompson received his bachelor's degree from the School of International Service at the American University in Washington and holds a master's in business administration from Suffolk University in Boston.

Hewlett-Packard Company
3000 Hanover Street
Palo Alto, CA 94304
www.hp.com