

Executive Biography

Arthur Wong

Senior Vice President and General Manager, Enterprise Security Services
Hewlett-Packard Company

---

Arthur Wong is senior vice president and general manager of HP Enterprise Security Services (ESS) at HP. ESS is a leading global security practice spanning security consulting, managed security services, security intelligence and research. In this role, Wong works with large global companies to help manage their information security risk, protect their assets and enable them to better perform in their industries.

Prior to joining HP, Wong was the chief executive officer of IronKey, Inc., a global leader in secure managed portable storage and trusted virtual computing. Wong also was the chief executive officer of Right90 Inc., a leading provider of Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) based enterprise sales and production forecasting systems.

Previously, Wong served in several executive management roles through seven years at Symantec Corp, including Symantec's first SaaS business and Managed Security Services business.

Wong has more than 15 years of experience in the technology and security space, and has founded five technology companies that were successfully acquired or publicly listed, including Security Focus, acquired by Symantec, and Secure Networks Inc., acquired by McAfee.

Wong holds a business degree from the University of Calgary in Canada.