

McLeod Glass

Director, Product Marketing, Industry Standard
Servers and Software
Hewlett-Packard Company

McLeod Glass is director of Product Marketing for the Industry Standard Servers and Software (ISS) organization at HP. In this role, he is responsible for HP ProLiant server, HP Smart Storage and HP FlexNet product marketing and for defining technology strategies for the family of HP ProLiant servers.

Since joining HP in 2000, Glass has demonstrated a strong commitment to the HP ProLiant family product line. In his previous role he spent three years in Taipei, Taiwan, where he created and led the ISS Developing Markets and Tower Server Product Marketing teams. He also has held positions in engineering project management for HP ProLiant servers, as well as product marketing management for HP ProLiant servers, HP StorageWorks arrays and HP ProLiant options.

Glass holds a Master's in Business Administration from the University of Florida.