

docs.hp.com Migration

The docs.hp.com content is migrating to HP's Business Support Center (BSC) website: www.hp.com/bizsupport. BSC is a central repository for HP technical documentation and additional support information. The migration is being conducted in stages over the next year and the MPE/iX content has been migrated as part of the first phase. You will see a redirection link under the MPE/iX section of the docs.hp.com homepage. It will take you to the landing page for the MPE/iX docs on the Business Support Center.

As part of the migration, we took the opportunity to reorganize MPE/iX content into two groups.

- MPE/iX 6.x will contain 6.x or earlier manuals
- MPE/iX 7.x will contain 7.x manuals

To achieve a look and feel similar to docs.hp.com, all the manuals will be organized by categories within each group and in alphabetical order.

For additional information, please visit the "More info on document moves to BSC" section at the bottom of the <http://docs.hp.com/> homepage and click on the hyperlinked phrase, "The move will be gradual and conducted in stages."
