

Introducing The Learning Center

While the ProCurve Network Training website provides an overview of our training and certification specific to ProCurve, registrations and personal transcripts will all be managed through a new HP training portal called The Learning Center.

In the spirit of sharing best practices and utilizing existing applications as well as infrastructure, the HP Partner Portal was selected as the “front door” to the new learning management system.

What does this mean and how does it affect you?

All individuals regardless of their employer status (HP partner, hp customer or other) will enter HP’s The Learning Center, through the HP Partner Portal. This portal will simplify access by providing a single login for all of your HP training needs – access to online training, registration for upcoming training, complete transcripts of your training and certification(s) activity, and more.

You will need to create a new user account on the HP Partner Portal and create an HP Learner ID to get started.

To learn more about getting started go to The Learning Center.

Note: All ProCurve certifications and all ProCurve online e-Learning will be managed through The Learning Center. ProCurve Instructor led training varies by region. Please follow the region links found on the ProCurve training pages.
