

Executive Biography

Albert Biketi

General Manager, HP Atalla
Enterprise Security Products
Hewlett-Packard Company

Albert Biketi is the general manager of HP Atalla, the company's payments and data security business. He also leads Strategy, Planning and Operations for the Enterprise Security Products group, working directly with the senior vice president and general manager.

Biketi has worked in a variety of HP's major enterprise business groups in various functions and regions throughout the last 15 years. His positions encompassed work in many segments including, global business development, merger and acquisition integration, competitive strategy, risk management, and operations. Biketi has also held several regional and global leadership roles in HP across Europe and the Americas.

Biketi holds an MBA from Harvard University.