

ROAD TRIP

HP Photo Fun: Road trip scavenger hunt

Traveling means seeing new places and surprising sights. Keep your digital camera ready, because your friends will never believe the things you saw without pictures.

Color your world

A new place opens your eyes to vivid colors of everyday things. Try answering these riddles with photographs:

- It's grass, it's the leaves of the maple tree, it's the mint in the mint chocolate chip ice cream. It's the color _____.
- It tells you to STOP! And it's an apple's skin. A dozen roses of this hue says a sweet "I love you." It's the color _____.
- What other colors can you photograph? Make a color collage of your whole trip.

Where am I?

You started there, but now you're here. What's different? What's the same? Use your camera to tell the story.

- First clue: License plates. Photograph one from your home, and another from your destination. What's different?
- Second clue: Every state welcomes visitors with a big, friendly sign at the border. Photograph as many as you find.
- Third clue: Amazing things have happened in this town! Find a historical marker and photograph it—then try to imagine the events it describes. What did the people wear? Were they happy? Scared? Relieved?
- Where are you? We started in _____ and went to _____. It took _____ hours/days to get here.

Who are these people?

You'll see some characters on your trip. Remember them with pictures.

- She serves you a milkshake and you give her a tip. She's your _____. (Be nice, and ask permission before taking her pic.)
- Who's that, in the car one lane over, singing loud and proud to the radio? Get his picture, quick, before the song ends.
- Maybe they're cousins, or grandparents or friends. Fill your camera with faces and the trip never ends. Make a collage of the people you saw on your vacation.
